Carers Counselling Service

Would you like to talk to someone?

The experience of looking after a relative, friend or neighbour can be very isolating. It can sometimes be difficult for carers to share their concerns with other people. Carers can feel guilty about having and expressing some of their own feelings.

Sometimes these feelings can seem overwhelming and may lead to ill health and a sense of hopelessness. Former carers sometimes struggle with feelings of loss and making the change from caring to other meaningful life roles.

If you are interested in any or all of these services then please mark the bottom of your Carers Registration form and return to Carers Team
